THOSE WHO GO TO SEA LOOKED AFTER BY RED CROSS

The Canadian Red Cross, symbol of mercy the world over, has again taken to the high seas, this time with a new system whereby survivors of Axis-destroyed vessels can be completely clothed immediately they are picked up at sea. Previously, shipwrecked sailors were outfitted by the Red Cross after they had been brought into port, but it was felt that looking after survivors' comforts until the rescue vessel docked was too great a strain on the already overworked wardrobes of the ships' crew.

Through this new system, only, recently put into operation, survivors' dunnage bags containing warm clothing, warm underwear, toilet supplies, etc., are issued by the Canadian Red Cross to all Navy and merchant navy vessels leaving Canadian ports.

Since the outbreak of war, hundreds of shipwreck survivors have passed through Red Cross depots where they have exchanged their torn, salt and oil stained garments for warm outer clothing, underwear, socks, sweaters and mitts knitted by women volunteers all over Canada. Red Cross distributing centres have been set up in New Foundland, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, in Quebec along the shores of the lower St. Lawrence and in British Columbia.

This new system does not mean, however, that the work of these centres will cease. Not everything a survivor needs can be put into a sagging dunnage bag. One old deckhand asked if the Red Cross could supply him with a new pair of glasses so that he could read the news, as his own were resting on the bottom of the Atlantic.

His buddy, next in line, then spoke up: 'Ow about me I lost me specs and me teeth too. Last I saw of me 'chippers' they was grinnin' at me from a bucket of water on deck and I 'ad no time to go fishin' for them.'

FURTHER RATIONING FOR U.S.A.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP) Congress has a blunt warning from chairman Donald Nelson of the war production board that $80,000,000,000 worth of guns, planes, tanks, and ships cannot be produced in the U. S. this year without widespread business casualties in non-essential industries, which will lead to further rationing.

The "Busy Bee" Club Held Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the "Busy Bee" Club was held in the Chinook School on Wednesday evening Feb. 17th.

After the minutes of the last meeting had been read by the secretary, Miss Betty Zawasky further plans were made for the school bazaar to be held on March 12th. During the sewing period which followed, an enjoyable impromptu program was arranged.

Games, a sing-song, and lunch, brought to a close, an interesting evening.

The Ladies' Card Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. L. Robinson. Honors were shared by Mrs. Jas. Aitken and Mrs. Robinson.

Your RED CROSS CALLS TO YOU
Never has the need been so urgent
$10,000,000 NEEDED Now!

YOUR RED CROSS appeals to you for funds to carry on its program of mercy; to continue vital war work performed by no other organization. Never has the need been so urgent.

Helping to keep up the morale of half-a-million fighting men is a gigantic task, and that is only the beginning. The Red Cross makes life more bearable for thousands of prisoners of war. Over 2,000,000 parcels were shipped to them last year—more than this number must go in 1943. Our men in British and Canadian hospitals need Red Cross comforts and heartening visits from the staff of Red Cross "visitors".

Red Cross help to shipwrecked sailors is essential, thoughtful, immediate. Homeless war orphans—our own kin and those of our allies—sick and starving men and women in many lands—millions in Russia, Greece and China and other peoples of the United Nations—need more food, medicine and comforts from the Red Cross.

The need is world-wide; this year the cost will be greater than ever. The work must go on. Obey the dictates of your heart; open wide your purse and be generous. Remember, you are the Red Cross!

CHAPTER VIII

MOHAMMED Ibn Muzil stood on the crest of a nearby dune, framed against the setting sun, waving one arm and pointing with the other down the far side of the sloping hill. When he saw that he had attracted their attention, Mohammed darted below the curve of the elevation.

Instantly Storey was on his feet, racing up the side of the knoll. The camels must have strayed far, or might even be running away.

Annette was with him when he topped the rise. And there, Storey pushed, his anxiety lessened, contentedly. The dromedaries were less than a stone's throw to his left, their long teeth cropping the camel-thorn. Mohammed Ibn Muzil had paused also, kneeling on the ground and bending down close to the sand.

An exclamation broke from Jack Storey. The smooth, rippled surface of the sand was cut by the imprint of many tiny cloven hoofs.

"The sheep!" cried Annette. "Andre Ribbott has passed this way!" Her eyes followed the scarred earth, the trail that swept on into the distant east.

"Well, Jacques?" Her dark eyes twinkled now, returned to Storey, his anxiety lessened, contentedly. The dromedaries were less than a stone's throw to his left, their long teeth cropping the camel-thorn. Mohammed Ibn Muzil had paused also, kneeling on the ground and bending down close to the sand.

of the problem of getting free, but now—

He placed his heels on the ground, his knees still updrawn, and shoved himself closer to Ibn Zeid. Inch by inch he moved, not unlike a crawling worm, toward the sleeping man. His progress was slow, since he must make no sound that might disturb the guard; also, his arms were beneath his sliding body, and the friction twisted and cramped his arms and muscles.

At length he drew up beside Ibn Zeid. Not an inch separated the two men. Carefully, Storey lifted his legs past the Berber's ear, poising them over the drooping head. He turned his ankles in a move that spread his knees until they were about six inches apart.

Then, swiftly, he brought his legs down upon the Arab.

The Old Homestead

A 30-acre Farm Within City Limits of Cleveland—This city of 1,000,000 boasts a 30-acre farm, with a 100-year-old farmhouse, well within its geographic limits.

The farm is owned and operated by William and Lawrence Boyd, bachelor brothers. The homestead was built by their father to replace the log cabin which he built when he and his bride settled about seven miles outside the little village of Cleveland 120 years ago.

Gradually innovations came about—Cleveland's boundaries stretched out to embrace the farm, horse cars replaced cart and team, and finally the gave way to buses, but the Boyd farm, though some of its acres were sold, is unchanged.

The Boyds' cousin, Miss Ida Clark, has kept house for them since she came, 40 years ago, to help out when their mother was sick.

Then they had a farm hand, Charles Tyson, who worked for them for 25 years until he went into business, but he came back, two years ago, for a visit.

When it grew dark, Storey, who had planned any possibility of escape, ordered one of his men, the black-faced Ibn Zeid, to watch the prisoners while the others slept. "If they bother you, O Zeid," remarked the sheik, "you are to shoot them or cut their throats."

Ibn Zeid squatted against a rock and placed a pistol in his hand. Mohammed and Annette, like Storey, were stretched on the hard ground just beyond the fellow's crossed arms. By turning his head, Storey could see the profile of the girl silhouetted against the dusk.

"Le tsi!" grunted Ibn Zeid. "If you try to move closer to your friends I shall blow out your brains." Silence fell over the camp in the wastes. The moon rose; the campfire died down; the Berbers rolled themselves in their blankets; the noises of the hobbled camels died away.

"The discovery prompted Storey to shift his attention to Ibn Zeid, seated at the foot of the boulder less than 10 feet away. In the shadow of the rock the black-faced Berber sat, hands and pistol resting in his lap. Though his shoulders were sagged, and his head had slumped forward until his chin touched his chest, Storey's eyes sought the gleam of light on the sands about the dead fire. Ibn Zeid was motionless as Ibn Zeid.

Storey moved his arms and legs experimentally, testing the ropes that held him. But the bonds were stout and well-knotted. He could neither stretch the tight loop nor get at the knots to untie them. Nor, anywhere on the level ground, were there any sharp-edged stones against which he might wear the strands of the ropes. What few scattered stones he could see were smooth and round.

A second snore came from the sleeping Ibn Zeid. A third snore followed, louder this time, and the perplexities of Storey were increased. If Ibn Zeid continued to snore like that, the rasping sound would be sure to wake one of the sleeping Berbers. In spite of the storm, you, who and then this tantalizing opportunity to escape would be gone.

Storey raised his knees, studying whether such a procedure was capable of execution. As he flexed his limbs, the robe fell away from his legs and he noted that his knees were slightly separated. It was then that a thought jabbed him like a spur. He could do more than knock out Ibn Zeid. He could use his legs apart as far as his bound ankles would permit, then, nodded to himself. "Yes, yes, yes, yes, yes," he had decided, "I might knock Ibn Zeid out because

Seaweed Rocks

Plants Encased In Shell-Like Crust Closely Resemble Coral

We probably are all familiar with the fact that the fossil imprints of plants and animals may be found in rock. Perhaps not so common is the knowledge that seaweeds make rocks. Many seaweeds have a great capacity for extracting limestone from seawater and depositing it as a shell-like crust encasing the plant. Such seaweed rocks are, in some cases, so much like coral as to be mistaken for that substance. Paleontologists have advanced the opinion that many of the massive rocks in the older strata of North America are of seaweed origin.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

Near Aurora, Ontario, there is a Pet Cemetery—the only one of its kind in Canada? Here, pets of all sorts are laid to rest, their graves decorated with floral tributes and with monuments ranging from simple headstones to the most elaborate statuary. Scenes of this are shown in an Associated Screen "Did You Know That?" movie short.

I'VE FOUND A GRAND WAY TO CORRECT MY CONSTIPATION!

Here's the sensible, enjoyable means that so many people take to correct the cause of constipation due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet: they eat ALL-BRAN regularly!

This delicious cereal keeps thousands regular naturally... stops their trouble "before it starts"... eliminates their need of harsh purgatives that give only temporary relief. Try KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, in cereal or breakfast muffins, drink plenty of water, and see why it's called the "better way".

Ask your grocer for KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN today. In two convenient sizes; and in individual serving packages at restaurants. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Visit To Marseille

Is Remembered For Its Famous Fish Stew

Marseille is supposed to be one of the wildest cities in the world. In normal times it does catch a good deal of the human off-scourings from the seven seas.

It is also a pleasant city of fine, shady boulevards, lined with spacious cafes and luxurious shops. The walk on a sunny day down the Rue Cannabiere, is one of the most picturesque, colorful and agreeable urban walks in the world. It is a devotedly religious city and its most conspicuous monument is the basilica of Notre-Dame de la Garde, situated on a hill rising high above the harbor.

In peacetime it was well fed and its menus offered some dishes not procurable at their best anywhere else in France. One of these was bouillabaisse, a fish stew containing an extraordinary variety of delicious seafood of an inimitable flavor. Pascal's restaurant, in the neighborhood of the Old Port, was famous as the home of the best bouillabaisse below heaven.

The people of Marseille must be missing their bouillabaisse. That may be another reason for their defiant opposition to the Nazis—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SMILE AWHILE

Waiter—What about a chop, sir?

Traveler—I never eat chops.

Waiter—In that case, sir, dinner is over.

Vicar—And what parable do you like best, my son?

Boy—The one about the multitude that loafs and fishes.

Mr. De Playvertiser—I will never submit to the vulgar demands of modern commercialism.

Mrs. De Playvertiser—Reginald, Oh! Reginald! Do not tell me that you cannot pay the butcher bill this month.

"Jim must have dropped from the football team."

"Yes, I notice he's attending classes now."

Prison Visitor—So you're here for seven years. What's the charge?

Convict—Lumme, gunvor, there ain't no charge. Everythink's free 'ere.

Eloise—What excuse have you to offer for being a bachelor?

Clarke—Oh! I was born that way.

At a college examination a professor asked: "Does the question embarrass you?"

"Not at all, sir," replied the student; "not at all. It is quite clear. It is the answer that bothers me!"

Mrs. (hollergently)—"Do you think I'm going to wear this old squirrel coat all my life?"

Mr.—(brightly)—"Why not, dear? The squirrels do."

The teacher had been explaining the poem "Excelsior." "Now," he said, "what is meant by the line, 'The shades of night were falling fast'?"

"It means," said Tommy, "the shop windows were being shut up at closing time!"

Bill—Hear your brother's workin' now, Sam.

Sam—Yus.

"How long he bin workin'?"

"Three months."

"What's he doin'?"

"Sis."

"Why don't you settle the case out of court?" said an Irish judge to the litigants.

"Sure, that's what we were doin', my lord, when the police came and interfered."

HOME SERVICE

CLEVER HAND-MADE GIFTS YOUR FRIENDS WILL LOVE

Bathroom Utility Box Easy

A dainty bathroom box for soaps and tissues—one that's splash-proof and getsy patterned! And all you need to make this welcome gift is an ordinary cardboard box with cover, olefin in pretty flower colors—rose, blue, orchid.

Cut separate pieces of olefin for front, back, sides, covering facing and bottom—each piece about 1/2 inch wider than the box. If cover has a flap, cut in one piece.

Now bind all edges with bias tape in white or in one of the colors in your pattern, then fit pieces to box and whip edges together along binding as the diagram shows. With a snap fastener your pretty box is complete.

You can as easily and inexpensively make other delightful gifts. The round wooden box your grocer gets in can be painted and lined with crotone for a sewing stand.

From a brick and odds and ends of bright-colored felt you can make a jolly doorknob with a gay Mexican motif.

Get complete directions for these and other pretty gifts from our 32-page booklet. Tells how to make dainty cellophane covers for lingerie and dishes; how to make a toy chest, pretty knitting bags, many more items.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Hand-Made Gift Novelties" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

TIME BOMBS

Some people tell you high ideals are unattainable, as their excuse for putting up with low ones,

Oratory is no substitute for action

Suppose each one of us thought, "How can we strengthen our community?"
Suppose each community thought, "How can we strengthen our country?"
Suppose each country thought, "How can we strengthen the world?"

Our Big Idea — Is it what we can make of Canada, or what we can make out of it?

When neighbors apologize and start teamwork, it's a first 'down' for democracy,

A sure way to get rid of the skeleton in the closet is to hold a public funeral.

Fifty Centres For Ration Books In Province

Must Produce Each Ration

Book Number
One

When a member of the family applies for new ration books for his household during the last week in February, he must present each ration book number 1, containing the postcard in the back of the book, filled out with prefix letters and number, name and address of the owner," states Eric J. Hargreaves, western director of rationing, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, who is in Edmonton at present conferring with C. G. McGee, regional superintendent.

"Ration book number 1, will be returned to the owner once the necessary information is transcribed on to ration book 2," Mr. Hargreaves emphasized.

"In rural areas a farmer may present the ration books of his neighbors, for convenience when necessary," Mr. Hargreaves noted, thus clarifying certain points on which there have been questions to the ration office of the board.

Co-operative Effort

The co-operative effort of issuing ration book 2 is described by Mr. Hargreaves as one of the greatest responses of volunteers he has ever known. "Throughout Alberta some 500 distributing centres will be manned by volunteer helpers, and where there is no branch of Women's Advisory committee to undertake the organization other women's clubs have promptly volunteered for the task. The response is marvelous."

"Local ration boards in the province will be distributing centres for numerous subsidiary polls from which ration books are issued," Mr. Hargreaves states, and each poll is strategically selected for convenience of the population,

Chinook Children Set Savings Record

The Chinook Consolidated school, which at the beginning of the year set an objective of $100 in its war savings campaign, passed its objective just eleven days after the start. At the close of the school last week a total of $105 had been marked up.

Various means have been instituted to gain the children's interest in the campaign. A dagger has been set up in each room. Commencing at zero and graduated to the 150 stamp mark, the dagger records the purchases of the children. Each child buying a savings certificate is presented with a V for Victory pin.

The campaign will continue until June.

Mrs. Larne Proudfoot and Mrs. Bjorsvik are spending a few days in Hanna this week.

Mr. Ray Robinson returned from Calgary Tuesday.

Mrs. Gallagher and Mrs. Hegg were Hanna visitors this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Barros of Bindloss are Chinook visitors this week.

Chinook Curlers are busy this week preparing the rink for the annual bonspiel, which starts next Tuesday and runs through until Friday, Feb. 5th.

There are to be three events as in other years. Grand Challenge, Merchants and Consolation and a good entry is expected.
